

The telephone in my home is for MY convenience. It is not an open invitation for telemarketers no matter how much money they can save me, what new gadget they know I just have to have or what survey is important requiring only a few short minutes of my time. I've been on the Wisconsin no call list for the past year and have reclaimed my family's dinner hour. I can watch TV without interruption again or help my child with homework. Leave us alone!
